

CRIBB<S> NOTE – May 25, 2008

There is more to coming to church than sitting in the pews and being inspired. Worship is an experience in which our souls connect with the Holy Spirit. We open our mouths in song, prayer, and testimony. We open our ears to receive a special Word. We open our minds and our hearts to be transformed. We come into the sanctuary as part of the community of Christ that ties us to the First Century church. We are not here to escape the world. We do not come to church to forget about people who are suffering. We are here to be challenged and encouraged to be in solidarity with sisters and brothers around the world.

Today, we are here also to be part of a special worshiping experience. We welcome the Inner Journey Trio. Vocalist Vicki McDermitt and poet/inspirational speaker Richard Parrish join Bob Ravenscroft on piano, Shaun Lowecki on drums, and Dwight Kilian on bass. Mario Barnabe is the visual media specialist who provides unrehearsed productions accompanying the music of Inner Journey Trio.

We are grateful for their talents and gift of music, meditation, and ministry. You are invited to become 'one in the Spirit' as the Inner Journey Trio takes us on a spiritual odyssey.
